Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133).
- Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 24 - 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In regard to claims 24 and 26, it is indefinite as to whether the “product” (line 1) is the same element as the “material transfer quick connect fitting device” (line 1).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-10,12-21,23,24,27 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by McNaughton et al.

The McNaughton et al. device comprises a quick disconnect coupling for use in automotive air conditioning charging arrangements comprising a one piece plastic body 24, a plastic locking sleeve 30 with associated tabs 32 for locking engagement with a fitting 22.

In regard to claims 23,24,27 and 29, the method as claimed would be inherent during normal use, assemblage and operation of the device.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3751

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 28 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McNaughton et al. in view of Strybel. The McNaughton et al. reference discloses a method (supra), but does not disclose the utilization of a valve in a fluid passageway. The Strybel reference discloses another air conditioning charging arrangement having a 35 to prevent inadvertent fluid leakage. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the McNaughton et al. system to utilize a valve in view of the teachings of the Strybel reference to prevent inadvertent fluid leakage.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The Kish, Jeffery, Allread et al, and Strybel references pertain to other quick connect couplings with associated locking tabs.

Claims 11 and 22 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 25 and 26 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
